What is Albaline?

Is it a substitute for toilet soap? Most emphatically NO.
Would you call the electric light a substitute for the old tallow candle?

Albaline

Possesses the same degree of superiority over toilet soap for the FACE, HANDS, BATH or SHAMPOO.
It cleanses more perfectly. Makes the skin softer. More sanitary.

Price, 10 cents.
LARGE PACKAGE.

Charming Fancy Pillows.

NORMAL SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT

Many Interesting and Entertaining Exercises.

PATRIOTISM WAS THE THEME LAST NIGHT

FIVE YOUNG MEN DELIVERED STIRRING ORATIONS FROM GREAT STATESMEN ON VARIOUS SUBJECTS.

HARRY FETTY AND WILLIAM KENNEDY CARRIED OFF THE PRIZES—CONTESTS ARE ALL OVER NOW.

Patriotic oratory was what greeted the usual large audience at the Normal Auditorium last evening. The select oration contest was participated in by five young men, each of whom did his work in a highly entertaining manner. The selections were all from the speeches of noted orators and were worth hearing.

The program was not long—just about the right length to keep the audience from becoming wearied.

The program opened with a baritone solo by our well known singer, Clyde Kinsey; as we all know, he has an excellent voice and knows how to use it, but "A Son of the Desert Am I," and "Shepherd, See Thy Horse's Foaming Mane," are selections which are very hard for an amateur to handle. Even with these difficult selections, Mr. Kinsey pleased his audience.

The contest was opened by "Our National Safeguards," rendered by Willard Steele. The selection is from Hon. Chauncey M. DePew, and was delivered in a manner showing great study in the preparation.

Dr. Andrew S. Draper's "The March of the Constitution," was the instructive selection delivered by Harry Petty. That it was delivered well was proved by the decision of the judges. Mr. Petty went into the contest with the intention of winning it, and nothing short of the first place could be given him.

"America a World Power," by Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, was the oration of Arlen Swiger. The selection was well delivered, but Mr. Swiger's voice is not that of an orator. A person is not to be blamed whether his voice is deep or not, but on a contest it all counts.

"The Problem of the Philippines," by Hon. Henry M. Teller, was delivered by William Kennedy. Although we do not agree with the "Bryanistic" sentiment of the oration, that is not to be considered. Mr. Kennedy has a deep, rich voice, and delivered the selection well. In fact, it was difficult to decide whether or not he should have first place.

The contest closed with "The State vs. Anarchy," by Dr. L. Clark Seely, delivered by Homer Howker. Like Mr. Swiger, he did well, but his voice was against him. Yet this should not discourage either of them, for with a little practice the voice can be mastered.

All the contestants were inexperienced in the business, none of them having appeared before an audience in this kind of work more than a few times. Their work last evening showed what can be done if attempted with a will, especially when given proper training.

When the judges retired to make up their decisions the audience was delightfully entertained with the solos sung by Miss Sarah Maxwell. She is recognized as a talented vocalist, and her singing last evening was up to her usual standard. Her first selection was "The Waiting Heart," by Jane Sloman Torrey, and as an encore she sang "Slumber Song," by Nicholas Heins. The accompaniment was played by Prof. S. Shaw and Huxley on the violin and piano. There has been a great improvement in the vocal music at the Normal since Miss Maxwell has been the instructor. She has a good voice, well trained.

The judges were Rev. G. D. Smith, of the First M. E. Church; Secretary Willis Hawley, of the Y. M. C. A.,

Senior Presentation Orator—Kate Petty.

Junior Representative—Frank J. Pyles.

Words of Help to the Needy—Willard Steele.
